

Buy to Let Tax Changes Factsheet

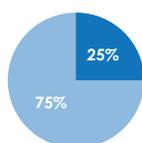

Owning and renting property has an impact on your tax position. Whilst we can help you find the right mortgage for your Buy to Let properties you should seek independent tax advice.

Each landlord will have different circumstances. Rental income, mortgage repayments, non-property related earnings, and any benefits you receive as well as whether property is held individually, jointly or in a company structure all impact your tax position.

Tax relief on interest costs

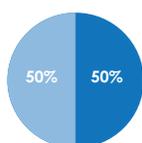

Previously, landlords could deduct all finance costs from their rental income, with net profits taxed at the landlord's marginal rate. From April 2017 and phased in over a four year period, tax relief for finance costs will be restricted to a basic rate tax credit, currently equivalent to 20%.

2017/18

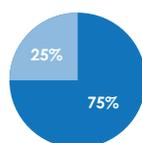

75% of finance costs can be deducted at higher rate, with the remaining 25% being available as a basic rate tax reduction

2018/19

50% of finance costs can be deducted at higher rate, with the remaining 50% being available as a basic rate tax reduction

2019/20

25% of finance costs can be deducted at higher rate, with the remaining 75% being available as a basic rate tax reduction

2020/21

All finance costs will be given as a basic rate tax deduction

An example of how the changes might impact

John is an individual with self-employment income of £35,000 and rental income from residential property of £18,000 per annum. His mortgage interest is £8,000 per year.

John becomes a higher rate taxpayer because of the change as his total income is more than the higher rate threshold of £45,000. John has an additional £1,100 tax to pay in tax year 2020/21. If John or his partner is claiming child benefit, he may have to pay a High Income Child Benefit Charge because his total income is now over £50,000.

Wear and tear

From April 2016, the "wear and tear" allowance, where a landlord could claim 10% of their rent as tax relief for wear and tear, was replaced by a system that only allows landlords to reclaim the actual cost of furnishings that have been replaced in the tax year. You also have to provide receipts showing what was replaced.

Stamp Duty

You must pay Stamp Duty Land Tax (SDLT) if you buy a property or land over £125,000 for residential properties. SDLT thresholds for Buy to Let investments and second homes changed in April 2016.

Purchase price	Residential property SDLT rates	SDLT rates for additional properties
Up to £125,000	0%	3%
£125,001 - £250,000	2%	5%
£250,001 - £925,000	5%	8%
£925,001 - £1.5m	10%	13%
Over £1.5m	12%	15%

The rates apply to each portion of the purchase price.

Different SDLT rates apply to different pricing bands of properties in Scotland

If you fail to keep up with payments on your mortgage a 'receiver of rent' may be appointed and/or your mortgage property may be repossessed.
